

Founded in 1972, the European Sleep and Research Society is an international scientific non-profit organization and promotes all aspects of sleep research and sleep medicine. These include the publication of the Journal of Sleep Research (JSR), the organization of scientific meetings, and the promotion of training and education, the dissemination of information, and the establishment of fellowships and awards.

Corporate Membership

ESRS Corporate Members join the mutual efforts of ESRS members to promote all aspects of research on sleep and related areas to improve the care for patients with sleep disorders and to facilitate the dissemination of information regarding sleep research and sleep medicine.

Why become an ESRS Corporate Member?

Corporate image and recognition

Being a Corporate Member provides you the opportunity to share vision, intellect, and financial resources with the sleep research and sleep medicine community in a cost-effective and productive manner. More than 1000 key professionals will be exposed to your company – a valuable public relations benefit. An average of 8270 people visit the ESRS website per month searching for information. All Corporate Members receive a web banner. This banner is strategically placed on the starting page of the ESRS website. Gold members may promote their company's history, milestones and strengths on the ESRS Corporate Member Profile web page.

Meeting benefits

Corporate Members benefit from attractive advantages for the ESRS semiannual meeting. Free registrations, special priority when it comes to exhibition booth and satellite symposia allocation are just a few highlights of the exclusive benefits.

Official Corporate Representation

According to your Corporate Membership level, you can participate at the yearly ESRS Corporate Advisory Group meeting, where the industry meets with the ESRS Board in order to discuss joint projects and interests. The ESRS Corporate Advisory Group allows companies to engage and influence research development to ensure their business interests are heard and represented.

Connection to worldwide news

You will receive a subscription to our flagship publication, the Journal of Sleep Research. As the European communication link, the Journal of Sleep Research is an international journal that reflects the progress in the rapidly expanding field of sleep research and sleep medicine, promoting the exchange of ideas between scientists at a global level.

The annual Corporate Membership fees are fixed at different levels, so that you may join ESRS Corporate Membership at an appropriate level for your needs and objectives.

Advantages

The ESRS seeks to foster long-term collaborative relationships with its Corporate Members, who enter into an initial contract agreement for a 2-year period in order to ensure a safe development of its activities.
